

Super Volcano Prevention Strategy to Protect Human Civilization

This is a diagram of a super plume under the surface with a major city above and an active volcano and a few volcanic vents.

Setting off multiple detonations or sound disruptions an eruption point can be chosen which prevents an eruption under a city that is in direct danger.